

Henrik Sylvan

Expert on Mobility Strategies and Urban Development

Henrik Sylvan is an expert on mobility strategies and large investment projects from designing and planning to the execution phase. He has made successful mobility plans for the 6 largest cities in Denmark and advises public and private organisations in Europe such as the EU-Commission on Smart City Innovation, infrastructure and regional development. Henrik shares his visions on the multidisciplinary approach when environmental sustainability, transport efficiency and financial viability have to go hand in hand.

“Henrik Sylvan is an expert on Smart City Development”

In detail

His work portfolio also covers the Fehmarn Belt Consortium and currently he is involved in developing a high-speed rail link between Hamburg and Copenhagen and further on to the rest of Scandinavia.
